Letters in His Pocket.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WINCHESTER, VA., August 4.—The young white man who was fatally injured on a Baltimore and Ohio Rallroad excursion train between Winchester and Memorial Hospital, has been positively identified as William T., Nicholson, of Davis, West Va., and his father is believed to be James Nicholson, of Nothers, Madison county, Va., who up to a late hour to-night had not replied to a tolegram sent by Chief of Police Scabright asking what disposition to make of the body which is now in a local undertaking establishment.

Letters found in the man's old clothes, which he discarded for a new suit were from Miss Sarah E. Jenkins, of Hawlins, Rappahannock county, Va., and were couched in endearing terms, telling him not to forget that "I am the girl that loves you best." Another pootle soutence reads "Lock up your heart in the old time chest and talk to the girl that you love best."

Nicholson is supposed to have been in the lumber business and is said to have been wanted at Davis for assaulting a policeman. Unless friends claim his remains he will be buried in the Potter's geld here.

FATHER PURSUED THE RUNAWAYS WITH GUN

Friends at Telephone Kept Them Posted of His Movements.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) MONTEREY, VA., August 4.-It has just been demonstrated in the consummation of an inter-State marriage, that love tion of an inter-State marriage, that love laughs at gunsmiths as well as locksmiths. Early in the week, Mr. Robert Whitelaw, of Highland, crossed over the West Virginia line to Bartew, determined to take a bride in the face of parental opposition. He was joined by Miss Lucy Wiley, his pretty little sweetheart, and drove to Green Bank, where they were married. Elated and happy, the young couple crossed to the Virginia side of the Alleghany, followed by the irate father and a gun. Friends of the runaways, however, made good use of the the Alleghany, followed by the Irate father and a gun. Friends of the runaways, however, made good use of the telephone line, by dint of which assistance they cluded the pursuing papa until mutual friends succeeded in getting him to give up the chase and allow the verdict to stand.
